

Curtin University

CENTRE FOR ABORIGINAL STUDIES

APPLY NOW BLOCK STUDY MODE ADMISSION WORKSHOP

The Centre for Aboriginal Studies at Curtin University is a leader in higher education for Indigenous Australians. Through the block study mode, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are able to obtain their degree by attending the university four times a year and participating in intensive study blocks.

The block release program allows students to maintain the balance of career, study and family life to further their education. Students undertake a common first year before selecting a major in:

- Indigenous Community Management and Development
- Indigenous Community Health
- Indigenous Mental Health

Make tomorrow better.

karda.curtin.edu.au

MORE ABOUT BLOCK STUDY MODE ADMISSION WORKSHOP

Indigenous Clinical Mental Health Practitioner
Indigenous Community Management and Development
Indigenous Community Health

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Students who are interested in applying for a block study mode course need to come along to an admissions and information workshop usually held each year in Perth and Cairns. At this workshop you will sit an admissions test, have an interview with a CAS staff member and find out more information about your chosen course.

Please register your interest in our admissions workshop (see contact details below). For more information about entry requirements, please go to karda.curtin.edu.au/courses/how-to-apply.cfm.

CREDIT FOR RECOGNISED LEARNING

Applications for credit towards a course are assessed on an individual basis.

DURATION

2 years full-time (associate degree)
or 3 years full-time (bachelor degree)

Curtin acknowledges the Nyungar people as the traditional owners of the land on which the main campus is sited.

STUDY MODE

Block release. The block release system of education helps you remain in your community and get a quality education by combining distance education with intensive blocks of study at the Centre for Aboriginal Studies in Perth.

CAMPUS

Bentley

COMMENCEMENT DATE

February 2017

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

The Indigenous Community Management and Development course will equip graduates to work in the sectors of Indigenous Australian Community Development, Indigenous Australian Community Program Evaluation, and Indigenous Australian Project Management.

The Indigenous Clinical Mental Health Practitioner major will equip graduates to work in clinical registration and as a mental health practitioner within a mental health clinic, hospital and/or facility.

The Indigenous Community Health course will equip graduates to become an Aboriginal/Torres Strait Islander Health Worker.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

The information in this publication is intended for Australian citizens and permanent residents only. All international students should refer to international.curtin.edu.au or telephone +61 8 9266 7331 for further information as some information contained in this publication may not be applicable to you.

For more information:

CAS Enquiries
Centre for Aboriginal Studies
Tel: +61 8 9266 7091
Email: cas.enquires@curtin.edu.au

Information in this publication is correct at the time of printing but may be subject to change. In particular, the University reserves the right to change the content and/or method of assessment, to change or alter tuition fees of any unit of study, to withdraw any unit of study or program which it offers, to impose limitations on enrolment in any unit or program, and/or to vary arrangements for any program.
Full details of the course and units are available by contacting the Future Students Centre or online at: handbook.curtin.edu.au
Curtin University of Technology CRICOS Provider code 00301J
Curtin University is a trademark of Curtin University of Technology
Copyright Curtin University 2016