The Centre for Aboriginal Studies at Curtin University is a leader in higher education for Indigenous Australians. The Centre is a purpose built facility to cater to the needs of our students and to provide a culturally appropriate environment for our people to learn and reach their potential.

The Indigenous enabling program is a six month course with the aim to fast-track Indigenous students to a mainstream undergraduate degree. The course aims to give you the skills and confidence to succeed in an undergraduate program at Curtin University.

Should you wish to attend the upcoming Entry Assessment Workshop and ‘make tomorrow better’, please contact the Centre for Aboriginal Studies to register your interest.

1 DAY WORKSHOP
• 9:30am on Tuesday 23rd June 2015
• 9:30am on Tuesday 7th July 2015

Choose to attend one of two sessions. Each workshop includes an information session and testing for entry into the enabling program held at the Centre for Aboriginal Studies.
